Then and Now

169 N Central Ave (previous to 1941, 135 N Central Ave)

Built in 1892, across from the original site of the M Steinmetz Store, the only store to survive the Marshfield Fire of 1887, this store has seen many expansion and remodeling projects. In addition to the Steinmetz Store, the building has been home to Kestel Brothers Store, Consumers Store, Johnson Hill's Store, McCauleys of Marshfield, and St. Vincent DePaul.

To learn more about this building, and these businesses, visit the Everett Roehl Marshfield Public Library (marshfieldlibrary.org/marshfield-150th-anniversary/)
